† On No. 14 above, the runner on first steals safely ONLY if he has an eleven in the first column of his card. The same for No. 35 above. Disregard second column 11's in both cases. However, there can be players with second column elevens and NO first column elevens; these players are considered to have a ten on their card should No. 35 result; they steal safely.

IMPORTANT: When numbers 7 or 8 appear in the second column of a player card, they are NOT subject to any grade changes described above. When these numbers come up in the second column, treat them as though a Grade D Pitcher is pitching. This is true for all base situations.
